

Team Competition Strategies

1. Hold a Regional Competition between Teams if you have multiple offices or retail locations. Create an incentive or prize (ie: Trophy for winning team) for the team that raises the most money.
2. Encourage your teams to bowl in costumes (50's, matching tee's, etc...). The team and individuals with the best costume can be rewarded with a fun prize.
3. Penny Wars: Every penny counts. Place "penny" jars throughout the company with interdepartmental challenges. Pennies are all positive, silver coins and dollars are all negative. Your department should place as many pennies in your jar as possible and as many silver coins and dollars in your competitors jars as possible. The department with the most money (minus negative-valued dollars and silver coins) at the end of the given time wins and all proceeds go towards the bowling fundraiser.
4. Offer small prizes within your team for those that are meeting fundraising benchmarks and goals.
5. Hold an "inter-office" competition with other bowling teams. Perhaps a Marketing vs. Accounting department to see who can raise the most money.
6. The top Executive provides lunch for the team that raises the most money.
